Charles Yost To Head U.N.

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Nixon today named career diplomat Charles W. Yost to become U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, and announced that Sargent Shriver, who had been considered for the job, will remain ambassador to France during the new administration.

Both men are Democrats. Nixon said he considered it essential to have bipartisanship in the top diplomatic councils of his new government.

His selection of Yost was a surprise, for speculation about the U.N. job had for days centered on Shriver.

Nixon said he and his advisers decided that in this era the United Nations job required "a skilled professional diplomat" rather than a political figure.

Yost holds the rank of career ambassador, but had been retired since 1966, when he left the U.N. as deputy ambassador under Arthur J. Goldberg.

Yost is 61. Nixon disclosed that he had discussed the U.N. appointment not only with Shriver, but with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., and with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. But he maintained that they had not been flatly offered the appointment.

Nixon said he doesn't offer a job until he is certain the man involved is going to take it. "You do not come to the point where the president-elect offers a person a job and the person on the other side of the table says 'Thank you. I am not going to do it,'" Nixon said.

Nixon said Shriver is doing "a very effective job" as ambassador to France. He said he decided this was not the time to change men in that sensitive post. "I have asked him to continue as ambassador to France, and I am pleased to announce that he has agreed to do so," Nixon said.

Alleged Jail Rioter Is Arraigned

A prisoner charged in the rioting at the Pickaway County Jail Nov. 22, was arraigned in Common Pleas Court Friday.

Earl George Brown Jr., Columbus, was charged with taking part in the jail disturbance and with the July 13 breaking and entering and attempted grand larceny at Caddy Miller Mens Shop.

Brown entered pleas of innocent to both charges. The prisoner was returned to Pickaway County from the Fayette County Jail, where he has been kept since the riot, to enter his plea.

The defendant was indicted for the crimes by a special session of the September term Grand Jury Dec. 4. The jury was reconvened only 30 days before the regular meeting of the January jury, to consider evidence concerning alleged crimes committed by men thought to have been involved in the jail riot.

A spokesman for the Federal Bureau of Investigation here said late Thursday night a statement was due shortly. That statement was postponed an hour at a time until, at 2 a.m., another spokesman said it would come today.

It was learned that the Thursday night statement was delayed because of the new contact with the persons believed to be holding the 20-year-old Emory College student.

In a development that might be related, investigators probed the flight by a bearded man and a young woman Thursday morning to the Bahamas aboard chartered air taxi service. The couple, giving Tennessee addresses, arrived at the plane in a blue Mustang with Massachusetts license plates and one carried a duffel bag, according to a witness.

This compared with Johnson's original budget projection issued last January of an $8 billion dollar deficit for the 1969 fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

The President's estimate was cut steadily during the year and in November government officials said the deficit probably would be $3 billion.

Budget Director Charles J. Zwick, commenting on Johnson's announcement, said that federal expenditures are now expected to match a government estimate issued in September of about $184.4 billion, or $1.7 billion less than the original January figures.

Since the administration expects to have a $1 billion surplus, tax receipts should run about $185.4 billion, or $6 billion higher than the September forecast.

The last time the budget showed a surplus was in fiscal 1960 when the government books showed $213 million more taken in than spent.

Speaking of the 1970 fiscal budget, Johnson said that "I

Stock Market Gains Pared

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market launched a vigorous rally at the start today, but profit taking came quickly on its heels, and the best gains were pared early in the afternoon. Trading was active.

Advances outnumbered declines by more than 200 issues, but blue chip averages backed away from their best levels.

Airlines at the start continued their vigorous rally of Thursday which preceded news of lucrative transpacific routes to some of them. Profit taking knocked down the prices of several.

A generally higher trend prevailed among steels, motors, mail order-retails, electronics, rails and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.1 at 365.3, with industrials up 1.7, rails up .6, and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which was up 3.35 in the first half hour, wiped out the gain and showed a net loss of .62 at 974.52 at noon.

Prices advanced on the American Stock Exchange.

James Chapman was bound to the next session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Thursday under $1,500 bond.

Chapman was charged with forging a check in the amount of $45. Circleville Policeman Jack Mills filed the charge.

LBJ Sees Small Surplus For Fiscal 1969 And 1970

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the federal budget will show a surplus for the current fiscal year, the first time since the Eisenhower administration that the government's books will be written in black ink.

And there will be more money on hand than spent in fiscal 1970 as well, the President indicated Thursday in a brief statement from Bethesda Naval Hospital where he is recovering from the flu.

Although the President's statement didn't say how much of a surplus is expected for this year, sources indicated it would be in the neighborhood of $1 billion.

This compared with Johnson's original budget projection issued last January of an $8 billion dollar deficit for the 1969 fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

The President's estimate was cut steadily during the year and in November government officials said the deficit probably would be $3 billion.

'Re-Education Of Horse Johnson' Proves Appalling

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK (AP) — An appalling exercise in boredom opened Wednesday night at Broadway's Belasco theater with a title as inane as its content, "The Sudden and Accidental Re-Education of Horse Johnson."

It was written starting in 1960 by Douglas Taylor, a man of extended endeavor in television, and has since been through workshop production at the Actors Studio, staging by the Eugene O'Neill Foundation and performance by the Milwaukee Repertory under a Rockefeller Foundation grant.

Four sponsors teamed up to deliver it to the White Way. Rarely has such sustained preparation been lavished on such a banal pile of dramatic stupidity.

The central character, played with stubborn desperation by Jack Klugman, is a middle-aged nebbish who quits pushing crates around a San Francisco warehouse to ponder the meaning of life in his wife's kitchen.

Between dialogue snatches of Thoreau, Whitman, Shelley, Keats and other stalwarts from a boy's guide to philosophy, various people come and go through Robert D. Mitchell's walkup set without generating a flutter of interest. Our un-hero gets disillusioned en route to the final curtain which has him once more kissing his neglected spouse and reaching for the lunch pail.

Kathleen Maguire, doing a slightly youthful impersonation of Pert Kelton; Mitchell Ryan, William Bogert, Fred Kareman and Jill Clayburgh share the lugubrious ordeal with Klugman under George Morrison's heavy-handed direction. It was an evening to regret.

Ross County Sets Landfill Fees

CHILLICOTHE, O. — The city of Chillicothe and county subdivisions will be charged a $1 token license fee to operate sanitary landfills in Ross County.

The rate was set by the Ross County Board of Health after it set a $250 annual fee for licenses to private operators of landfills.

County Sanitarian Harold Boecher estimated that it costs about $100 for each inspection of landfills and the inspections must be made several times a year.

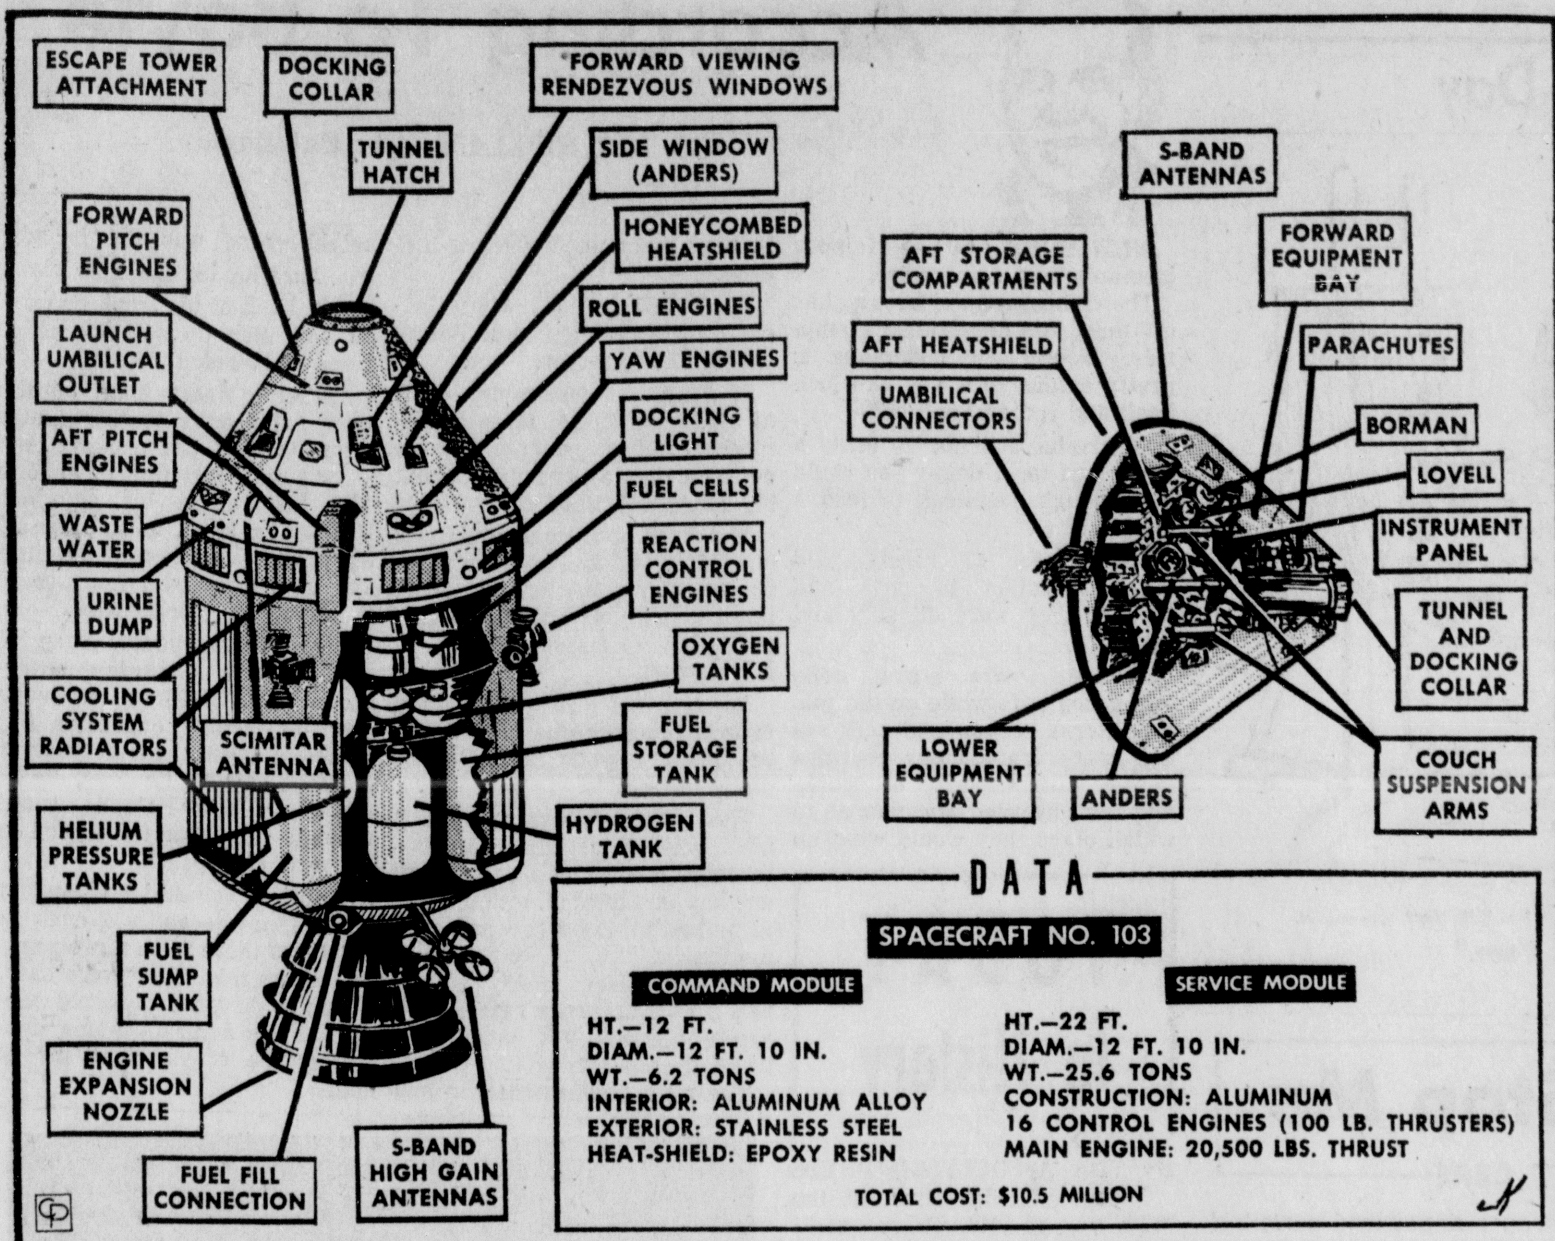

SELF-HELP—Noland Clay, 11, Apache Indian representative of Indian tribes participating in self-help programs in 25 states, autographs a copy of a book about his life for Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., in Washington. The boy also invited the senator to a screening of the motion picture, "The Stalking Moon," in which the lad stars.

Center Answers Flu Questions

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Head ache and muscles sore? Fever? Sore throat?

You're just one of thousands suffering from the current outbreak of influenza.

It may be the new and fashionable Hong Kong variety or just the old fashioned flu. You won't be any more or less miserable with one type than with another.

And if you're a normal, healthy adult you'll probably recover without lasting ill effects.

The National Communicable Disease Center has provided information to answer the many questions about the disease. They include:

Q. How do I know I have the flu?

A. The only sure way is a laboratory test, since a number of viruses and bacteria can cause symptoms similar to influenza. Tests have shown that much of the current outbreak of respiratory illnesses is due to A2 or Hong Kong flu.

Q. What's the difference?

A. There are two major types of influenza—A and B. What is officially known as A2 (Hong Kong) is a new strain of the A type virus. It was first identified in Hong Kong, so that's how it was named. Since it is a new strain, people are more susceptible to it.

Q. How can I avoid catching the flu?

A. It's not easy, since virus particles are spread through the air when a victim coughs, sneezes, laughs or even talks. These viruses are in fluids in the nose and mouth of persons infected with influenza. So the best way to avoid getting the flu is to stay out of crowds and stay away from anyone coughing or sneezing.

Q. What are symptoms and treatment?

A. Symptoms are fever, chills, headache, sore throat, cough and soreness and aching in the back and limbs. You may have some or all these symptoms. No known medicine will cure influenza, but antibiotics are often used to combat complications. Treatment includes rest in bed, keep warm, drink plenty of fluids and check with a doctor.

Q. Can I be vaccinated against Hong Kong flu?

A. A new vaccine has been developed specifically for Hong Kong flu, but it is recommended primarily for elderly persons and those with chronic illnesses. However, doctors generally do not recommend mass inoculations against influenza.

Q. What about after effects?

A. Although influenza can be fatal, often because of complications, a bout with the disease is unlikely to cause lasting harm to a normally healthy adult.

Q. What are my chances of having flu?

A. An estimated 10-15 per cent of the general population will probably have flu. In places where people are crowded together, the rate will be higher. So you have a much better than even chance of not getting it.

Immigrant 'Wins' Mother At Party In Fort Wayne

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — An immigrant from England won her mother in a "rigged" drawing at a holiday party Wednesday.

When Teresa Page, 24, opened a refrigerator-sized package, she found her mother, Mrs. Emma Minett, inside. The two hadn't seen each other for almost a year.

Employees of the auto dealership at which Miss Page worked arranged to have Mrs. Minett flown here for a three-week vacation.

The daughter has been in America for about a year, and journeyed back to England last March when her father died. Mrs. Minett lives in Solihull, Warwickshire.

Bellefontaine Police Strike Reaches End

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — City Council and the Fraternal Order of Police reached an agreement Thursday night to end a six-day unofficial strike by the city's 12 policemen.

The agreement, in effect, provides for salary negotiations between the city and the police for the first time.

Attorney James R. Gosley, who represents FOB Lodge 60, said the police officers agreed to accept a $50-a-month salary increase effective Jan. 1.

In addition, a joint committee made up of councilmen and police representatives will conduct a study of salaries, fringe benefits, city finances, etc., with recommendations of the committee to be implemented on July 1, 1969. He said any salary increases agreed upon by the committee will be projected through 1970.

Gosley said the police officers agreed to return to their jobs Friday morning.

The policemen began their walkout Saturday by calling in sick, and have not returned since then. Police Chief Donald Woodruff and radio dispatchers have been the only ones on duty during the period.

Everyone Gives Watches for Christmas!! Why Don't You Be Different??

Accutron Spaceview G. White stainless steel case, transparent dial, lets you see space-view movement, sweep second hand, waterproof, shock protected, luminous dial and dots... $125.00.

What's so special about watches, anyway? They're all made up of mainsprings and hairsprings. A balance wheel. And a lot of other delicate mechanisms. They have to be. It's those things that make a watch run. Be it fast or slow. Or maybe not at all.

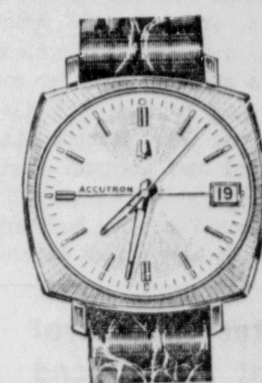

So why give someone an ordinary watch? You could give an Accutron® timepiece instead.

Accutron has no hairspring. No mainspring. No balance wheel. They've been replaced by a tuning fork. (That's it in the center of our Spaceview model.) The tuning fork does everything ordinary watchworks are supposed to do. Measure time. Only it does it more accurately. By vibrating 360 times to a second. And sending the hands around the dial so precisely, we can guarantee monthly accuracy to within a minute.* About 2 seconds a day.

Could a gift be more perfect?

Accutron 230. Stainless steel, waterproof, black dial with applied figures, luminous dial and dots and hands. Black leather strap... $125.00.

Accutron Calendar V. Time and date at a glance, 14k yellow gold filled case. Hands applied markers on gilt or silver dial... $175.00.

Accutron 240. The popular priced Accutron timepiece. Stainless steel, luminous, waterproof. Black corfam strap... $110.00.

Accutron Calendar BK. Bold full numerical dial smartly encased in gleaming stainless steel. Waterproof... $150.00.

Accutron Calendar AV. Ebony faced calendar timepiece with luminous dots and hands. Stainless steel. Waterproof... $150.00.

Accutron Astronaut A. White stainless steel case, waterproof, shock protected, sweep second hand, black luminous dial and hands... $175.00.

Get With It

The mistletoe is a plant with miraculous powers, or so the Druids believed. Today the ancient customs, changed out of recognition, survive mainly at Christmas time.

Why they survive at all isn't clear, since they serve merely as an excuse for boys kissing girls and girls kissing boys in an age when they don't seem to need any excuse the rest of the year.

But if you're going to kiss or be kissed under the mistletoe, you might as well do it right. A tree expert who is presumably au courant with the old traditions, says that you're supposed to pluck one white mistletoe berry for each kiss — otherwise the rite will lose its magical powers to bring happiness. And otherwise less mistletoe will be sold.

How did the mistletoe, a heathen charm, get into the celebration of a Christmas festival anyway? Botanically, it is a parasite, so maybe there's logic in its attaching itself to a different religion. There are no Druids around to object, luckily.

This is the sason to get with it.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve may be willing to run the risk of a credit crunch in an effort to girdle an economy now bursting at the seams. It may be the lesser of two dangers.

The existing danger is from inflation. The risk in tightening credit is that it might provoke too great a slowdown.

Mrs. Mackie, 51, tied up.

KIDNAPED — Authorities are seeking to unravel the kidnapping of Barbara Jane Mackie (above) by two men who entered the Atlanta, Ga., motel room in which she was staying with her mother and spirited her away, leaving Mrs. Robert Mackie bound and gagged. Barbara Jane, 20, lives in Coral Gables, Fla., with her family. Her father is land developer.

The ingredients of a crunch seem to be present in the Fed's action this week. First it raised the discount rate, the rate at which banks borrow money, from 5.25 per cent to 5.50 per cent. Money thus was made more expensive.

Second, the Fed took no action to remove the lid on the rates banks may pay to attract deposits. If it had been raised the banks could attract more money from business for the purpose of relending. Money thus was made less available.

The net effect is that demand will far exceed the availability of loanable funds. Credit-sound customers may be refused loans. Tight money may be back with us.

The Fed seems to feel it has good reason to turn niggardly. This economy of the United States is out of shape, swollen too large for the frame. Not all the size is muscle; some is fat.

By making money less available the Fed hopes to slow economic activity to what is considered sustainable. And what better way of doing this than to make less available the credit that permits economic activity?

Credit demands today are phenomenal. Spending by corporations for expansion is forecast to run anywhere from 5 to 13 per cent, and most of this would be borrowed. Consumer credit demands also are near records.

Much of this demand is the result of an inflationary psychology, which means that although prices are high now, many individuals and corporations believe they will be even higher tomorrow.

When such a psychology grips an economy it means the very existence of inflation is the cause of still more inflation. People rush to buy now; tomorrow will be too expensive.

Urge Federal Probe Of Media

WASHINGTON (AP) — An executive of one of the nation's most important newspapers, criticizing the news media for its coverage of violence, has called for a federal commission study of the news industry.

In testimony before the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, Norman Isaacs, executive editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, said "We need more responsible restraint in coverage of crime and violence."

"I would like to see a federal commission study the role and behavior of all news media," Isaacs said.

As an economic adviser to President Johnson once noted, this is like a fat lady eating chocolates. Knowing that she is overweight but unable to face the facts, she dispels her anguish by eating more chocolates.

In terms of that analogy, the fat lady is now being put on a more stringent diet. She won't starve, perhaps, even though she might believe the end is near. But she is likely to lose some weight.

There is a health hazard, of course, in restricting credit, which is the food and fuel of economic expansion. The danger is recession, an anemia of the economy whose onset is sometimes difficult to discern.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BIG LONDON Sunday newspaper announced a contest for aspiring young writers, offering substantial cash prizes for stories submitted. George Bernard Shaw, who considered the judges incompetent, sent in a new story under an assumed name. Sure enough he got it back forthwith, marked, "Mediocre. You will never be a professional writer."

H. Allen Smith tells of the day his Uncle Fred climbed a tall mountain and found a huge rock poised at its crest. He worked with might and main for hours and finally dislodged it. It went hurtling down the mountainside, headed straight for town, crashed through the supermarket and the First National Bank, and finally came to rest against an oak tree in the rear of that institution.

Folks came rushing from all sides to see what all the excitement was about, but Uncle Fred, arriving on the double, pushed them aside to scrutinize the rock carefully through a magnifying glass. Finally he straightened up, and announced, "Nope. No mass."

Chief Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was a ripe 92 years old when Franklin D. Roosevelt became President in 1933—and his memory wasn't what is used to be. A few days after FDR had been inaugurated, he paid a courtesy visit to the venerable jurist. Holmes listened politely to what he had to say, but when the President had left, he turned to an aide in bewilderment and demanded, "Who the devil was that young man?"

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

For the second time in six months I paid a visit to my doctor because of a severe head cold. Both times I asked him for some kind of shot of penicillin to help me get well in a hurry. Each time he refused and in fact never gave me a prescription. The charge was the same. Why did he do this?

Mr. G.L.A., Delaware Dear Mr. A.: I am particularly intrigued with your letter because within its framework lies so much of the confusion that can alter and even destroy the relationship between a patient and his doctor.

Let us both examine your letter carefully and analyze its meaning. The fact that you saw your doctor twice in six months with a head cold is not unusual. At work and in social relationship with one's family it is not uncommon to pick up somebody's germ as often as that. The fact that you recovered from the infection six months ago is important, because it indicated that the treatment your doctor used helped you to recover. I say helped you, because your own body defenses played an important role in this recovery.

Let us examine the next point, namely the fact that you asked your doctor for "some kind of shot of penicillin." Perhaps patients will learn that it takes a great deal more judgment and time not to use an antibiotic than it does to give one. It probably takes no more than twenty seconds to load and give an injection of penicillin. It takes at least four minutes of conversation for a doctor to tell a patient why, in his case, the antibiotic is not necessary.

It must be obvious that your physician was not holding out on you because he disliked you, or felt that you did not deserve the best of modern medicine. Actually, he was sparing you the expense of a needless penicillin injection and perhaps even avoiding the possibility of an allergic reaction to such a drug. You can be sure that if your illness suggested to him the need for potent antibiotics there would be no reason for you to have to ask him for it.

Your desire to "get well in a hurry" is understandable. Unfortunately, all our knowledge about the common cold does not yet seem to prevent it or reduce the time of discomfort.

The three courageous astronauts on the Apollo mission "caught" and held onto their colds for the eleven days in orbit. At 17,500 miles an hour they really were in a hurry to get rid of theirs.

It is wise for a patient never to impose his own anxiety on the doctor to force him to use heroic measures that may be more dangerous than the illness itself. Your doctor never "gave you a prescription." The decision not to give a prescription is as difficult as the one to write it. I have heard, in my many years of practice, the chronic complaint that is just the reverse of yours. Patients have said "My doctor gave me an expensive prescription which did not do me any good and I could have gotten well without it." The doctor just can't win in all situations.

The charge was the same because you consulted him. It was not dependent on a prescription. "Why did he do this?" I can hardly explain my own actions and the confusion that I, too, instill in patients who do not discuss these matters with me. Talk to your doctor and hold on to a valuable relationship.

Alcohol and gasoline do not mix, which means don't drive if you're drinking.

Find Man-Innocent Due To Insanity

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Allen W. Kidd, 26, of Huron, Ohio, charged with first-degree murder, Thursday was found innocent by reason of insanity. The court said Kidd would be sent to a state hospital for mental tests.

Kidd was accused of shooting Sgt. Stephen Lane, 26, on Dec. 20, 1967, at the apartment of Kidd's wife. Kidd said he found his wife in bed with the man and did not recall what happened after that.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEX (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is man's best companion.

The richest man is he who has the most and pleasantest memories. Your own collection is pretty extensive if you can look back and remember when—

Cigarettes sold for 10 cents a pack, and for a dollar you could buy enough beefsteak to feed a family of five.

Boys under 17 rarely paid much attention to girls and thought they were all silly and flighty.

Butchers wore straw cuffs and straw hats while on the job. A literal heaven and a literal hell were tremendous realities to the vast majority of people and the unsettled question as to which place they would wind up in kept them uneasy for a lifetime.

The safest mailbox where lovers could exchange their letters was a hole in a tree.

It wasn't an uncommon sight at all to see an old farm grandmother puffing contentedly on a corn cob pipe as she went about his household chores.

If a man in a small town was out of work, he could usually find meat for the pot by taking up his shotgun, going out into the fields, and knocking over a few rabbits.

A girl of yesterday had enough fabric in one petticoat to provide a 10-year supply of today's miniskirts.

The world of dogs and small boys was in perfect balance—there seemed to be a dog for every boy in America, and as long as he had that dog he was never too lonely.

At Christmas, every family had a real live tree with honest green needles—not counterfeit trees of chill plastic.

The most popular man in any neighborhood was the friendly iceman who let the kids clamper in back of his truck or wagon and pick up cool ice chips from the wooden flooring.

Father's finest hour of the week came after Sunday dinner when he stretched out and took a long nap, and woe to anyone who interrupted his slumber. Usually he slept, in summer at least, with a section of the Sunday newspaper over his face to keep away pestering flies.

Movie houses featured serial thrillers on Saturday afternoons, and children wondered how they could endure a full week of agony before they'd find out how Eddie Polo, Pearl White or Ruth Roland would manage to escape from peril in the next chapter.

America was still the land of wide open spaces, and even in big cities there were more parking places than there were cars.

You could get a big-sized candy bar for a nickel and a double-dip ice cream soda for 15 cents.

Rice To Urge Law Changes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —

Fred Rice, registrar of the Ohio Bureau of Motor Vehicles, said Thursday he would recommend new legislation in the coming session of the Ohio General Assembly to require only one license plate on motor vehicles.

He said single license tags would save the state about a half million dollars a year.

Single plates are among several recommendations Rice said he would make to the legislature, concerned with cutting of red tape, efficiency and money saving.

Other proposals, he said, call for increases in fees in some areas still being studied to increase the Bureau's income by more than $1 million a year, and abolishing of decals and paper work for the $5 local permissive tax on license purchases in which instead of a decal, counties charging the permissive tax could make a notation on the motorists' registration cards.

Currently about 15 states have a single tag system, and more than 30 Ohio counties and several communities will begin charging the $5 permissive tax on license purchases next year.

OSU, Others Get More Money

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Controlling Board responded Thursday to emergency requests from five state universities and granted them $2,507,250 in additional operating funds.

Ohio State received $800,000, Kent State $200,000, University of Toledo $600,000, Wright State University $237,250 and Youngstown University $670,000.

Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Board of Regents, said higher enrollments necessitated the emergency request. State universities' subsidies are based on total full-time enrollment and, Millett explained, enrollments at the five schools were higher than anticipated.

Millett told the board that operations of the five schools would be seriously endangered without additional financial assistance.

On the other hand, enrollments at two other schools, Miami and Ohio University, were lower than expected. The "extra" subsidy they got was transferred by the Controlling Board to Ohio State, $233,000, and Bowling Green, $600,000.

The board also released $1,125,000 to the new Medical College of Ohio at Toledo for the purchase of equipment and library books.

The State Department of Education won approval of a $5,948 request to assist the Youngstown School System in paying for the transportation of non-public school pupils. Youngstown city schools are currently closed because of lack of money.

The Controlling Board approved a $2 million request from the Department of Health to build new laboratory facilities at Ohio State.

Other requests approved by the board included:

Department of Agriculture, $18,120 to fund the Migrant Rest Center in Henry County through next June 30.

University of Cincinnati, $528,935 to expand its central utilities system to provide electricity, heat and air conditioning to its new science and engineering center.

Department of Education, $15,000 to expand $109,539 study being made on sexual education, abusive use of alcohol, drugs and tobacco and violence in schools.

Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, $125,416 for preliminary work on a new wing and remodeling of a dormitory at its Junction City Treatment Center in Perry County. The former Junction City prison branch is being converted into a facility for psychiatric treatment of criminals.

Department of Highways, $170,837 to contract with Ohio State University for extension of a research project on automatically controlled vehicles.

Department of Natural Resources, $718,000 for purchasing land for further development of the Auglaize - Maumee rivers park system between Defiance and Toledo.

Natural Resources also received $265,000 for clearing land, building drainage systems and constructing a pond at Mosquito Creek Wildlife Area in Trumbull County.

Human Race In Trouble?

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Haverford College biology Prof. Ariel G. Loewy suggests that the human race is racing toward destruction and may have no more than 30 years left to solve the major problems of food, population, pollution and war. If this isn't done?

"I fail to see a future to which we can aspire with enthusiasm and with hope," Loewy wrote recently in Haverford's magazine.

"Our only chance for survival," says Loewy, "is to bring about ... social revolutions which will modify the entire motivational structure of society."

"While for the first time it is technologically possible to eliminate all poverty, our world is being threatened by the accelerating problems of over-population, ecological deterioration and nuclear poisoning."

Loewy says man has advanced sensationally from the status of primitive toolmaker—but the revolutions of industry, science and medicine have missed two-thirds of the world and this could be what might kill it.

Some Details Of Julie Nixon Wedding Given By Secretary

NEW YORK (AP)—Julie Nixon, described by her mother's press aide as "very much a sentimentalist," will wear "something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue" when she marries David Eisenhower Sunday.

Press secretary Gerry Van der Heuvel continued to keep secret all details of Julie's wedding gown, but did confirm Thursday that the traditional good-luck rhyme for brides will be followed.

Julie's mother will wear a "fashionably" short aqua dress of corded lace over silk crepe, embroidered with aquamarines at the hem, sleeves and neckline, Mrs. Van der Heuvel said. The dress, designed by Priscilla of Boston, has a fitted bodice and waist and a slightly flared skirt.

Julie's going away costume is a white wool dress with a jacket and side closing. The jacket has a wide self belt with large gold buttons.

Mrs. John Eisenhower, David's mother, will wear a beige silk satin dress with a princess silhouette designed by Malcolm Starr. The dress has a high neckline and long sleeves cuffed in ranch mink.

Among other tidbits Mrs. Van der Heuvel disclosed Thursday was the fact that the wedding guests will ride from the ceremony at Marble Collegiate Church on Fifth Avenue to the reception 30 blocks away in five chartered buses, decorated by friends of David and Julie.

Joseph Tarantino, the pastry chef of the Plaza Hotel where the reception will be held, said he was baking a six-tier, five-foot cake described as a rich poundcake with lemon filling. Instead of the traditional bride and groom figures atop the cake, there will be a vase of flowers—placed there at Julie's request, Tarantino said.

Julie, meanwhile, was busy with last minute details, including writing thank-you notes for the gifts piling up in the dining room of the Nixon's Fifth Avenue apartment.

One gift the young couple is "especially pleased" with, said Mrs. Van der Heuvel, is a brass plaque from David's grandparents, former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The plaque bears the motto, "Bless this Home," and on the back Mrs. Eisenhower wrote, "This hung in the White House during the eight years your grandfather was president."

St. Paul WSCS Holds Annual Christmas Party

Women's Society of Christian Service of St. Paul United Methodist Church met Sunday afternoon for its annual Christmas party.

Mrs. Oakley Leist opened the devotional service with singing "Silent Night." By use of a devotional center, she developed the theme "We Would See Jesus." She was assisted by Mrs. Loring Leist, Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Mrs. Ralph DeLong and Miss Lydia DeLong. Mrs. Frank Lands read the Christmas Story from the Bible and Mrs. Francis Huber presented prayer. The group then sang "Away in a Manger" and "Let The Beauty of Jesus Be Seen in Me."

Weta Leist conducted a brief business session. Lydia DeLong read the minutes of the last meeting and presented notes of meetings held 15, 20 and 25 years ago. Mrs. Emmett Hinton gave the treasurer's report and explained the new offering plan for next year. The president told of the new Korean orphan supported by the society and showed her picture.

For the program, most of the members and guests presented a short number. "A Christmas Prayer" was read by Miss Mildred Wertman; "Christmas Thoughts" by Mrs. Ralph DeLong; "Notes on Shepherding" by Mrs. Oakley Leist; "A Cake Contest" by Lydia DeLong; "A Guessing Game" by Mrs. Frank Lands; "A Prayer" by Mrs. Loring Leist; "The Inn Keeper" by Mrs. Cliff Hedges; "If For Christmas" by Mrs. Bern Shidaker; "His Name at the Top" by Mrs. D. A. Marshall; "The Last Christmas Tree on the Lot" by Mrs. Emmett Hinton; "Jokes" by Mrs. Clode Hill and remarks by Mrs. Arthur Leist. The program was concluded with the group singing "Joy to the World."

Silent sisters for the past year were revealed and names were drawn for 1969.

Seasonal refreshments were served in the social rooms of the church.

U.S. In Touchy Spot With Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP) — The assumption of dictatorial powers by the military-backed regime of Brazilian President Arthur Da Costa Silva has put the United States face to face with one of its toughest Latin American problems in recent years.

Although Brazil's governments in recent years have been military-oriented, Washington felt that they were sufficiently progressive to deserve the nearly $1.4 billion in loans and grants provided by the United States since 1961.

But last week's power grab, the result of military displeasure over the results of a Brazilian congressional vote, is considered by the United States as more serious than previous Brazilian government turnovers.

Besides the concern over the move to the right, U.S. officials say they are also disturbed because the Brazilian generals acted with no apparent thought about relations with Washington.

One part of the dilemma now facing U.S. officials is that they don't want to take any action that would rebound by a severe anti-American reaction in Brazil.

Such American action could result in the withdrawal or exclusion of Brazil from the Alliance for Progress. Without Brazil, the largest and most populous country in Latin America, the Alliance would virtually cease to exist as an important force for social progress.

But these officials say that in the long run the United States has little choice but to disapprove of a dictatorial regime whose principles are completely opposed to those set forth in the Alliance for Progress charter.

"You can't expect to exclude Brazil from any program for Latin America and expect the program to have any universality," one American official said.

There are four options open to the U.S. in its dealing with Brazil as officials here see it:

—Devise a way to maintain economic assistance programs with Brazil without giving the impression of supporting the government.

—Try to work around the government, continuing U.S. aid-to-people type programs by working through other, unofficial sources.

—Change the objectives of the aid program, concentrating only on economic development to the exclusion of social development.

—Terminate our Brazilian aid program all together.

A quick answer to the problems seems unlikely in view of the transition period going on in the United States government. Officials are reluctant to take a firm stand at this point, and

Ohio Industrial Development Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Industrial development has boomed in Ohio this year to the tune of $2 billion, the State Department of Development reports.

F. P. Neuschwander, director, said in a preliminary report that a record $2 billion has been invested in new plants or plant expansions in the state.

"This is the fifth year in a row that Ohio is the nation's leading growth state," the director said. He added that the new industry over that period "has created over 600,000 new jobs."

A "FIRST" — Mrs. Virginia Mae "Peaches" Brown (above), elected chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, thus becomes the first woman to head a federal regulatory agency.

Junior Women Make Visits To Nursing Homes

The December meeting of the Circleville Junior Women's Club was held in the home of Mrs. Ronald Lundberg, 339 Meadow Lane.

Prior to the beginning of the business meeting, members of the club made their annual visits to ten city and county rest homes and homes for the aged. The club presented Christmas gifts to those patients who had once lived at the County Home.

The club voted to send donations to Project Hope and to the National Assn. for Retarded Children. In addition members agreed to send $25 to the Stephen Kneese Fund.

It was announced that applicants are being accepted for the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs Sewing Contest and the Penny Art Scholarship Contest. The club discussed the possibility of sponsoring a high school student in each of these.

Mrs. Marge Wolford, Home Economics Agent, spoke to the group, giving some special tips on holiday and general entertainment.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Holycross, Mrs. Joe Smith and Mrs. Ronald Berlin.

Dinner Fetes Birthday Celebrants

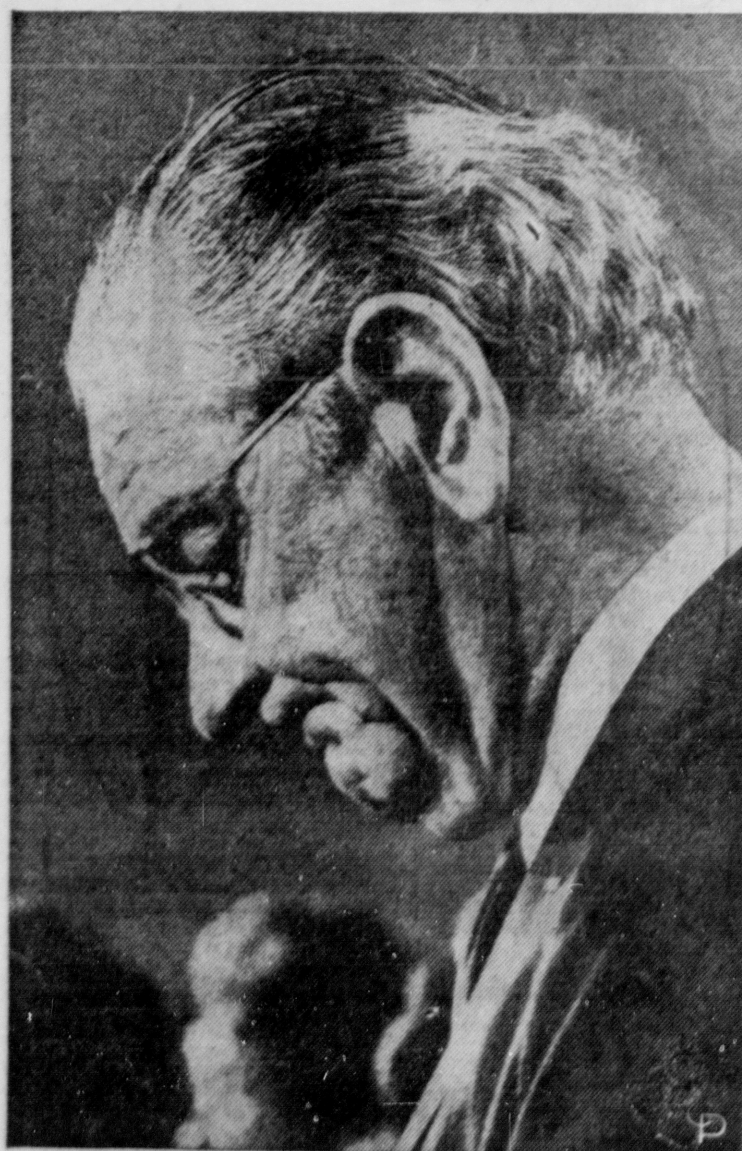

A surprise birthday dinner was given Tuesday evening by Mrs. Mary Lehman in her home, 134 Park St., celebrating the birthdays of Mrs. Maribelle Mace and Mrs. Helen Arledge.

The Lehman home was decorated in the Christmas theme with the dining table centered with poinsettias and lighted tapers.

Others attending were Mrs. Rita Blubaugh, Mrs. Dora Carter, Mrs. Norma Johnson, Mrs. Carolyn Brooks, Mrs. Becky Herkless and Mrs. Jane Feldman.

Stans To Be Top Adviser On Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maurice Stans says that his role as secretary of commerce in the Nixon administration will be upgraded to make him one of the new president's key economic advisers.

"At my meeting with President-elect Nixon," Stans said Thursday, "he made it quite clear he wants the secretary of commerce to be one of the group of top economic advisers to this administration."

Under the Democrats, the president's chief economic advisers have been the secretary of the treasury, the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers and the budget director.

Stans, a New York investment banker and budget director in the Eisenhower administration, told his first news conference since designated Nixon's commerce secretary that he would join these three figures in the new administration as the important economic counsels to the president.

Stans also told newsmen that he expects to be the voice of business in the cabinet.

"I sense strong feeling on the part of many business leaders that they would like to be heard and would like to help with the planning" of problems facing the nation, Stans said he intends to help them accomplish these goals.

He also said it might be possible to cut the 10 per cent income surtax in half by mid-1969 and eliminate it altogether a year later.

Kroger Loses Game Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County Court of Appeals has ruled against the Kroger Co. in the grocery chain's legal battle with state liquor officials over promotional games run by Kroger.

The court upheld a ruling that the games, "Race to Riches" and "Pepsi Cola Win With Jokers" were games of chance and should not be permitted in places which hold liquor permits, even though there is no charge to persons desiring to play the games.

The case involves a suit by Kroger against State Liquor Director Donald D. Cook. The company argued the games were not in violation of state liquor laws, as Cook charged.

Shawen Recommended

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Franklin County Republican Executive Committee recommended Thursday night that County Commissioner Jacob Shawen be appointed to fill the Ohio House seat vacated by the recent death of Rep. Robert Jones.

Bible Class will hold its annual Christmas party 1 p.m. at the Wardell Party Home. The children's department will present its Christmas program 7 p.m. with the theme "Christ Is Born."

A community-wide Christmas Eve candlelight service will begin 11 o'clock at the Trinity United Methodist Church of Laurelville.

Shadows Linger At Center Of Christmas

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The big birthday is coming up, with its mixture of merchandising and mystery.

Outwardly, it's a dazzling, bulb-blazing affair, but at the center linger the shadows.

It happened at night. What night? Dec. 25? Nobody knows. What year? No one can be sure.

Certainly, it was before Herod the Great died in 4 B.C., and from other evidence, it is believed to have been in 6 B.C. or 7 B.C.

LBJ Approves Expansion Of Trans-Pacific Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major expansion in trans-Pacific air service approved by President Johnson for U.S. airlines has given Americans a second 'round-the-world' flight as well as wider choice in service to the Orient.

With only one important modification, the President Thursday approved Civil Aeronautics Board recommendations on expanding commercial air service to Hawaii, Japan, the Far East, New Zealand and Australia.

Under the plan, Trans World Airlines joins Pan American World Airways as the only U.S.-based carriers with around-the-world flights. Trans World's was approved to fly from Los Angeles to Hawaii, Guam, Okinawa and the Far East where it will connect with Atlantic flights.

Other airlines getting new routes or extensions were Pan American, Continental Airlines, Northwest Orient Airlines, Braniff Airways and Flying Tiger Lines, an all-cargo carrier.

The only major part of the CAB's recommendations overruled by President Johnson was his denial of American Airlines to have Pacific service.

U.S. officials said the vast expansion should have these results:

- Help reduce the nation's balance of payments deficit by increasing tourism from the Orient to United States.
- Cause a reduction in Pacific fares through increased competition among the airlines.
- More production of American-made jet aircraft.
- Produce $50 million a year in revenue for the major trans-Pacific airlines.

In turning down American Airlines for service to Japan and other Pacific nations, Johnson said his decision was "based primarily on foreign policy considerations."

This was an apparent reference to pressure from Tokyo to keep new flights to a minimum and keep competition down against the government-owned Japan Air Lines, which has major revenue producing routes serving the trans-Pacific.

Man Convicted In Murder Case Gets Life Term

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A Cleveland man on probation for carrying a concealed weapon was convicted of first-degree murder Thursday night by a Common Pleas Court jury.

William Paneto, 22, received a recommendation of mercy from the jury, making a sentence of life imprisonment mandatory.

Judge Harry T. Marshall handed down that sentence after the verdict was read.

Paneto was one of two men charged in the bar room slaying of Fred Conn, 21, a porter at a downtown tavern. The other man, 22-year-old Andres Barriero, is awaiting trial.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Kaye once reflected, almost regretfully, that it was less strain to turn out one show a week on television than to do one or two specials a year.

The audience does not expect as much as the performer learns to settle for the best he can do in the time given to him, said Kaye.

Goodness knows what we expected of Thursday night's "Andy Williams Show," but as one of NBC's trio of Christmas specials, it seemed to suffer from the one-show-this-season problem. The hour, full of assorted Williamses, loaded with song and looking like an old-fashioned greeting card, would have been a dandy, sentimental show—if Andy and associates had been visiting us in our living rooms weekly this year. But we really haven't seen much of the gentleman for months and most of us have, quite frankly, lost touch.

The intimate show, which even had Andy's parents clowning a bit, just didn't bring off the atmosphere of informality, warmth and family reunion that was its aim and object.

It was full of charming short segments—bits with the small Williamses listening to their father's story; a duet between Andy and his soft-voiced wife. Generally, however, the spirit of Christmas seemed almost as phony as all that Hollywood snow and ice.

"The Little Drummer Boy," that started as an oft-heard holiday season song, was given form and substance in an animated half-hour musical show primarily designed for children. The three-dimensional animation was intriguing and a number of fine talent participated—Greer Garson as the voice of the story teller, Jose Ferrer as the voice of the villain who kidnapped the little boy and his pets, and the Vienna Boys Choir, which sang the famous song.

The program never really came to a decision, and moved violently between the broadest kind of comedy to the reverently dramatic.

Bob Hope and company were in high form in his holiday special. It was a show with sketches and musical numbers hung around a plot that had Santa Claus kidnapped. Naturally, it was suspected that he had been hijacked along with his flying sleigh and reindeer by bad guys who looked like Fidel Castro.

In addition to the rapid fire gags by Hope, there was an effective dance number starring Carol Lawrence—but how an oriental number was inserted into the story is a mystery—and good songs by Nancy Ames and Glen Campbell. Jerry Colonna appeared briefly and while his contribution was short, it was pleasant to see him back with Hope and looking so well after his long illness.

It was a pretty giddy show, but somehow it hung together to make it Hope's happiest outing of the season.

Apollo 8 and its three man crew will be the big stars of weekend television. The three major networks will preempt regular programming for the start of the six-day moon probe scheduled for Saturday morning.

First television reports from the capsule are tentatively scheduled for midafternoon Sunday.

From launching to splash-down, all networks will drop regular schedules to report any significant news of the space flight.

CBS plans a partly live half-hour special Sunday—6-6:30 p.m. EST—showing highlights of the wedding of Julie Nixon and David Eisenhower.

Expenditures By Gilligan Group Listed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John J. Gilligan's campaign committee filed an expense report Thursday showing contributions of $402,607 and expenditures of $393,016.

The report, filed with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown by William E. Sauter, treasurer of the Gilligan for Senate Campaign Committee, listed outstanding debts of $35,346.

Gilligan was defeated in the U.S. Senate race by Republican William B. Saxbe, whose committee expenses are expected to total more than $500,000.

The report showed a contribution of $10,000 from the Ohio AFL-CIO and lesser donations from several other labor groups. Bulk of the money was spent on advertising.

Starling Control Expert Protects Inaugural Dignity

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP) — Joe Fink, the unsung hero of four presidential inaugurations, has completed his vital part in preparations for the next one.

So that President-elect Nixon and his entourage won't need umbrellas Jan. 20, Fink has bird-proofed the inaugural parade route between the White House and the Capitol.

"Otherwise, the starlings would cause the dignitaries to lose some of their dignity," observed Fink, 63, of Wilmette, in an interview.

He and eight workers spent 12 days spraying the 100 trees along Pennsylvania Avenue with 2,000 gallons of a chemical he invented 22 years ago and produces at his National Bird Control Laboratory.

"It's a nonpoisonous chemical which deters birds from landing," said Fink. It irritates their feet.

His $10,000 contract with the inaugural committee guarantees to keep starlings away from Pennsylvania Avenue for at least four months.

Until Fink came to the rescue, the birds used to disturb inauguration festivities and parade participants.

"Thousands upon thousands of birds attended those parades," Fink said. "You couldn't see the sky for them. Trees along the route were littered with them."

Spectators in stands under the trees had to raise umbrellas for protection, he said.

"Then in 1953 the Department of Parks asked us for a demonstration," Fink recalled. "They'd tried everything but nothing worked. Nobody thought we'd work, either. But the next day every tree around was covered with birds except those trees we'd treated. And the next day we got the assignment for President Eisenhower's inauguration."

This inauguration will be the first one for which Fink will be on hand to observe the results of his handiwork.

"I'm holding final inspection Jan. 10 so I think I'll stick around for it," he said. "I was never able to make it to the others, although I was always invited."

Santa and the Hippies

By LUCRECE BEALE

Synopsis: Ding Dong gives the hippie poems to the Purple Witch. They are the first new thing she had read in a hundred years. She rewards him with the purple thread.

CHAPTER 16 POPCORN POPPER

DING DONG rushed back to Butterfly Kingdom with the purple thread. The Queen took the three colored threads he had gotten and wove them into one three-colored string. She gave the string to Ding Dong and said, "Hesekiah must break this string. Then and only then will the spell on Santa Land be over."

"But how will Hesekiah break it?" asked Ding Dong. "That is your final task," said the Butterfly Queen. "But if it is not broken in three days Hesekiah's spell will last forever."

"We can never do it!" groaned Edgar.

The Butterfly Queen said, "In three days Christmas will be here. All the children in the world are waiting for Santa. You must find a way."

Ding Dong nodded gravely. He put the string into the paper bag with the popcorn popper and the spinning top. Then he and Edgar got in the little plane and flew away to Santa Land.

When they arrived Edgar warned, "Don't touch anything and be careful where you step. The magic salt is everywhere."

He pointed to Santa's private tool shop. There was smoke coming from the chimney — the only sign of life in Santa Land. "Hesekiah is there!"

They crept to the door and peeped through the keyhole. There was Hesekiah whacking and chopping away on his hideous machine to take the place of people.

Ding Dong tried to open the door. It was locked. "I'll knock," said Ding Dong. "When he comes to the door we'll quickly break the string across his head."

He knocked and pounded and kicked at the door but Hesekiah never heard a sound, so intent was he on his fantastic invention.

There was nothing to do but wait for Hesekiah to come out and break the string.

They waited all day and all night and part of the next day. Hesekiah went on smashing and clouting on his invention and "What are you going to do with this corn?" asked Edgar.

never came out of the door.

"It's Christmas Eve!" moaned Edgar. "We've only a few hours more!" Ding Dong emptied out the paper bag he'd brought from Hippierville. He had used all the gifts the hippies had given him except the popcorn popper. He stared at it glumly.

Suddenly he asked, "Is there any corn in Santa Land?"

"Tons of it," said Edgar. "All stored away where Hesekiah's salt wouldn't have touched it."

"Bring all you can!" cried Ding Dong.

Edgar rushed away. Ding Dong took the spinning top that was Santa Claus out of the popcorn popper and set it gently on the ground. He climbed onto the roof of the shop with the popcorn popper under his arm.

Edgar returned with two enormous sacks of corn. "What are you going to do?" he gasped when he saw Ding Dong on the roof.

"You'll see!" cried Ding Dong. "Pass up the corn!"

Santa Claus Legend Based On Real Man

By JACKIE ULLMAN

The beloved myth of Santa Claus, bestower of gifts at Christmas time, is connected with the good Saint Nicholas who was an actual person living in the fourth century.

According to tradition he was born at Patara, in Lycia, and became bishop of Myra. He is supposed to have worked many miracles, and for a time he suffered imprisonment for his faith.

Dec. 6, the day of his death, was long celebrated with special observances in most countries of Europe, and became one of the most popular saints' days. St. Nicholas was especially the patron of travelers by land and by sea, of scholars and the young. Because of his latter connection, as well as because of the fact that his feast day fell close to Christmas, he was given a new role.

In Belgium and Holland his feast day is still celebrated by young and old with charming local variations. It is said that Saint Nick rides a white donkey. If the children have been good, he deposits gifts in their wooden shoes; if not, they find a bundle of switches instead.

Protestantism sternly frowned upon worship of saints, but custom and amusement prevailed, and Saint Nicholas' festival became assimilated in Christmas festivities. Our Dutch ancestors brought the customs of the homeland with them to New Amsterdam. The Dutch words San Nicolaas, when said rather fast by excited children, became Santy, or Santa Claus.

Only American children say Santa Claus, and even in America, during the first half of the last century, the saint was still known as Saint Nicholas or Saint Nick.

The saint also acquired reindeer after his arrival in America. The belief must have come from Scandinavia where the reindeer has long been domesticated.

In some parts of Germany Santa Claus disappeared entirely, but the customs remained and the giver of gifts became the Christ Child, in popular German Kris Kringle, who, in America, became identified with Santa Claus.

Then too, many English children believe that Father Christmas, a gentleman in a sort of 18th century costume, with gaitered legs, a tail coat, and a squarish beaver hat, leaves gifts.

Student Of the Week

RANDY GREER

By JAN CLIFTON

Who is the tall boy with blonde hair walking down CHS halls? He's Randy Greer, a senior, who moved to Circleville from Columbus. He presently lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Greer at 904 S. Court St.

Randy thinks CHS is about the same as Brookhaven, his old school, only "it's a little smaller here." When asked his opinion of CHS, he stated, "It's a nice school with friendly kids and experienced teachers."

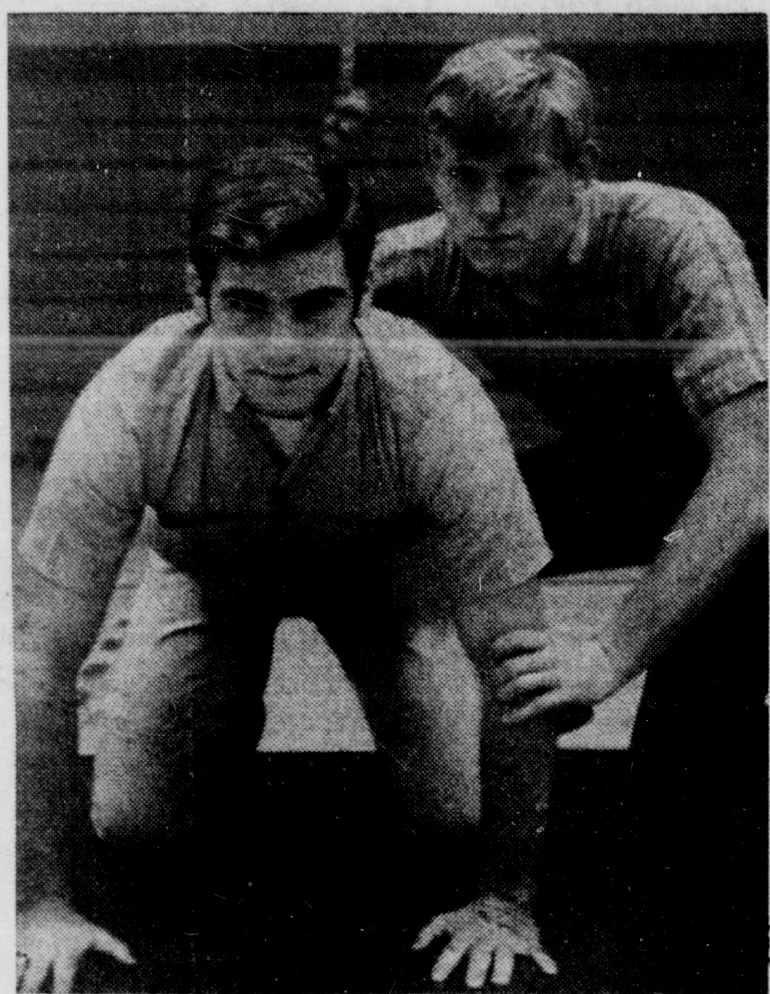

In the past Randy has gone out for football, basketball, baseball and track and has lettered in all four. His favorite classes are American government and psychology. He has no definite plans after graduation, but would like to attend VPI.

The journalism class has a special gift they want for Christmas but they will have to wait until the new year to receive it.

Big circles under the eyes will tell who stayed up to cheer the new year in.

This is the last issue of the Red and Black for 1968. It will be even better in 1969! That's a promise!

Two Seniors Are Matmen Of Week

MAT TEAM BACKBONE — Steve Lingo (left) and Jim Samuel are considered by their teammates to be the backbone of the CHS wrestling squad. Both students think Circleville will be a strong contender for the SCO league crown.

By FRANKIE CARTER and RICK SIMS

Our two highlighted wrestlers this week are Steve Lingo and Jim Samuel. Both seniors, they help to make the backbone of CHS' mat team.

Jim Samuel, 18, who resides at 890 N. Court St., is the son of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Samuel. Jim is presently in the 175-pound weight class and has lettered for two years in wrestling.

When asked to state his opinion of the team, he replied, "The team has a good potential in winning the league. A few members of the team might go to district competition." Jim gave his opinion of the new league as: "It will have good competition in a few years."

His activities include membership in the Stooze Club and Student Council. Active in football and track, he has lettered for three years. His hobbies include sports and flying.

Jim is enrolled in the college preparatory course and lists government as his favorite subject. After graduation he plans to enter college and study pre-dentistry.

Experience, ability and desire describe Stephen Lingo. He resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Lingo at 233 Cedar Heights Road. His brother Dave lettered in cross country as a sophomore.

When asked his feelings about this year's wrestling team, he had these comments: "We have good experience in all weight classes. Our team should be in strong contention for the SCO league crown, with Wilmington posing as the main threat."

Steve's other activities include football, track, diving club and membership in the Key Club.

Clubs Have Real Spirit Of Christmas

By WESLEY JONES

Beneath all those beads, flowers and love potions is a side to the American teenager most do not see.

Today's image of adolescence has become warped by only a few teens who spoil the entire "basket of apples." We of the Red and Black would like to set the record straight with a run-down of what CHS clubs and students will be doing to enlighten the Christmas spirit.

GAA went caroling and gave a basket to a needy family.

The Student Council donated two baskets and sponsored a "Toys for Tots" charity drive.

Key Club went caroling and gave two baskets. They also vended the Charity Newsies put out by Kiwanis for a worthy cause.

Hi-Y had a food drive for the holiday season.

SOS presented two baskets to needy families and caroled at various rest homes and hospitals.

And as if that were not enough, all the clubs of CHS gave their time, money and energies to a Children's Christmas Party held Dec. 19. Transportation for the youngsters was provided by the Stooze and Key Clubs with entertainment by the Curtain Callers Drama Club, food by SOS and games by GAA.

Students of CHS worked very hard this year to further the Christmas spirit in their community. So the next time you see one, think twice before you recall the days when long hair was frowned upon.

How many teachers gave assignments over Christmas vacation?

This will be the last time seniors will be returning to CHS from Christmas vacation.

Letter To CHS Students

The period following graduation from high school is one of the most important parts of an individual's life. Many decisions have to be made and if one decides to attend college, that person exposes himself to many changes and experiences.

First of all, I feel that college life is tremendous. Most schools offer great varieties of things in which students may participate. The key to becoming a part of a college is to be involved in the actions of that school. That is, to take advantage of the many opportunities that are presented.

Sports usually bring great experiences and so many social activities are available that it is hard to decide which ones to attend. There are things for every personal interest with the only limit being "crackin' the books."

Studying brings great pains to many and often overrides the "good times" that are available. The way that you must study at college is just plain hard. When told to read an assignment, that assignment is not only read but must be understood so that it can be discussed completely in class. Everything is covered quickly and seldom is the pace slowed.

No one at college is going to force you to study because there are plenty of students waiting for admission to fill your dormitory space if you fail. You can never relax or fall behind without expecting a drop in grades.

You've probably all heard this before, but you must learn how to budget your time and, most important, how to get the most out of studying during the time available. You must be ready for quizzes at any time and in any course. The amount of studying done in high school will do you little good at college. If lucky, you might pass most courses, but it will eventually "catch up" with you before graduation.

Looking back on high school, I now consider it one of the best parts of my life. High school is a social as well as learning institution, especially in Circleville where size makes it possible to know most of the other students, the social sense arises. Everything is centered around the school as a building as well as a group of students.

At college, you are just another freshman and remain so even though you gain new friends and become better acquainted. Sometimes I wonder if college will ever have some of the close ties that high school creates.

To finish, I know that I have stated that college and high school are both great. Well, they are, but do not attack your high school life for boredom while looking forward to a wild existence at college. If you have felt that high school has been a waste of your time then you will probably feel the same about campus life. Both are only what you as an individual make them and feel towards them.

Art Class Decorates Halls, Windows

By HOLLY BACH

The CHS classrooms were definitely brightened by the labors and efforts of one of Mrs. Luna's Art II classes.

Each classroom's window facing the hall was decorated with colorful tissue paper design depicting the subject taught in that room. For example, a purple White House brightened a government room, holly wreaths with books and ribbons were on the library windows, a tempting plum pudding was on the Home Ec. window, and a be-ribboned pink pig adorned the Agriculture room.

The Art II students worked approximately two weeks, sketching, tracing, and cutting out these tissue paper decorations. CHS took on a festive air and it began "to look a lot like Christmas!"

Singers Perform At Holiday Assembly

By MINDY WOOD

Paul Caldwell and the Caldwell Singers from Columbus performed for the CHS Christmas Assembly Dec. 12.

The assembly consisted of many vocal and instrumental pieces. The singing Caldwell's sang many well-known tunes, both new and old. They also sang a variety of Christmas songs.

For their grand finale they made a salute to our flag and country and the many soldiers.

Teacher Feature

MR. TERRY CORDLE

By JOM BALLOU

Selected as teacher of the week is Mr. Terry Cordle, who teaches science on the eighth and ninth grade level.

Mr. Cordle lives with his wife Margaret at 2931 Leelewin St. in Columbus. He graduated from Marion Franklin High School where he played football and baseball and was a member of the choir.

He then went on to Ohio State University and was graduated in 1967. From college, Mr. Cordle taught last year at Coventry High School.

Mr. Cordle's philosophy of teaching is experimentation and class participation instead of lecture. He also has another idea on the way schools should be operated. He feels that the gymnasium and shop areas should be open to public use on a tuition basis when school is not in session with the money going to new equipment for both areas.

Mr. Cordle's likes include teaching, hunting and photography.

Faculty Lists Gifts Wanted For Christmas

By BILL JOYCE

Last week a number of Circleville High School teachers were asked what they would like for Christmas. A large variety of answers were given of which the following were a few.

Mrs. Boggs — "No accidents among the students of CHS and no hungry children."

Mr. Sowder — "A winning season."

Mr. Higgins — "A muzzle to put on Tod Conrad."

Mr. Katterheirich — "Intangible items."

Mr. LaRue — "To put Christ back in Christmas and peace back in mens' hearts."

Mrs. Eicher — "Peace and quiet."

Mr. Sale — "Peace and quiet all over the building for one day, especially in the halls."

Reception For College Prep Students Slated

A senior-graduate reception sponsored by the Student Council will be held 1:45 a.m. Jan. 3, in the high school auditorium.

The 1968 graduates of CHS who are attending college were invited to come and speak to college-bound seniors. A general discussion of college life will be presented by the graduates.

Following this, an informal talk session will be held among the students and refreshments will be served.

Plans are being made for a similar reception for the business students.

SANTA CLAUS

Christmas Is Precious Day

By WESLEY JONES

To a 7-year-old boy, it's an electric train set. To a minister, it's a time of reverent remembrance. But what is Christmas to you?

Is it a present, an idea, or just that time of year when something "special" is in the air?

We are not going to try to pinpoint what it should mean to you, but we will ask you to keep in mind a few simple facts.

Without the efforts of our founding forefathers there would be no Christmas. Without religion there would be no Christmas. Without the human spirit of giving there would be no Christmas.

So what has this to do with you? Plenty. Freedom of religion is granted you by the highest law of our land, take advantage of it. Attend the church of your choice, not only on Christmas, but all year round.

From out of the middle east countries of Asia some 2,000 years ago came a man whose teachings set the world afire. Remember his birth and remember his teachings. As for the spirit of giving, the survival of Christmas within each of us is wholly dependent upon it.

Once a year, we celebrate a holiday sinking further into commerciality. Its true meaning we sometimes abandon in our search for happiness.

This year, recall that meaning, and never once take it for granted. For if you do, it may someday be taken from you.

Tiger 'Pause'

By MICHELE HULSE

Just think! No more school until Jan. 2.

Think also about exams. They are coming up soon.

Let's wish the Tiger round-ballers the joy of the season and serenade them with carols of cheers at tonight's game.

Enjoy your holiday, seniors, but don't forget to do your research papers for Mrs. Will.

It's almost too late to change your ways if you want the jolly old man to leave a gift under your tree, but you could start now for next year.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

ather Of Eight Must Grow Up

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my youngest son. He has had two bad marriages and now he is separated from his third wife. He has eight children from these three marriages and he has to support them all.

The last two are only babies yet and with all the alimony and support money he has to pay out he can't afford to hire anyone to look after the little ones, so he counts on me.

Abby, I am 68 years old and my husband is an invalid and I am not in very good health myself, but how can a mother say no to her own son? He is 32 years old, but he is still my baby.

SYRACUSE MOTHER: Your "baby" is responsible for eight babies of his own. He is very good at multiplying, but he doesn't know how to add or subtract. Let him work this problem out himself. If he knows he can't "count on you" he may find a solution and grow up in the process.

DEAR ABBY: Is it true in the state of Massachusetts 10 kisses are equal to a proposal of marriage?

HEARD IT: I have a deal with the Massachusetts Bar Association. They don't give advice and I don't practice law. But if there is such a "law" I'll bet it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to make it stick.

DEAR ABBY: I can understand how a business man might insist that his receptionist find out who is calling before he picks up the telephone, but how about this? At home my husband expects ME to find out who is calling him before he'll come to the phone. I tell him this is his HOME, not his OFFICE—that I am NOT his receptionist, and since I answer the telephone all the time and have to talk to anyone who calls me, why shouldn't he? If I am wrong, let me have it.

HIS MAJESTY'S WIFE: DEAR ABBY: You asked for it. I think you're wrong. A business man is sometimes annoyed at home by calls he has refused to take at his office. True, you aren't his receptionist, but as his wife, you should be even more mindful of his best interests.

DEAR ABBY: I finished high school and took a secretarial course. I'm working now, and my parents expect me to pay room and board. I don't dig it at all. After all, I didn't ask to be born, so isn't it their duty to take care of me?

I am always being bugged about helping with the house work and ironing. I thought it was a mother's job to do housework, laundry, and cooking. She works only part time and I think my time off should be my own to do as I please. Even rest, if I want to.

I am only young once. I am thinking about moving into an apartment with a girl friend. No more midnight curfews. "Where are you going and where have you been?"

NINETEEN: DEAR NINETEEN: I think you need to grow up, all right, and I advise you to stay home until you do.

Elderly Woman Losing Home

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A wind-swept, abandoned house on the Philadelphia waterfront, being razed for an expressway, leaves a 70-year-old spinster homeless.

The state contractor boarded the lower part of the three-story house. Upstairs Stefanie Murawski snapped a piece of wood and tossed it into a stove.

Wind whistled through the narrow dwelling, which will be demolished soon.

Stefanie says she's independent and doesn't worry about her plight. The Polish immigrant has lived in this section of the city since coming to the United States as a teen-ager.

She says she is used to living in abandoned quarters, without lights or electricity.

For years she roomed with families in this neighborhood while she was drawing a weekly salary of $40 for rolling cigars. Later she went on Social Security. She continued working for a while as a domestic and began seeking abandoned houses for shelter.

Whatever belongings a family left behind, she had a use for. "Steffie," as she is known, explained "I don't like to stay in one place. I like to be on the move."

Not too long ago, a Roman Catholic priest arranged for her to live in a home for the elderly. She didn't stay.

The Welfare Department tried to convince her to board with a family. She resisted this, too.

"I'm happy," Steffie said. "I go and come as I please. I don't worry—it's no good to worry."

Kettering Man Arrested In Brutal Slaying Of Girl

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police in suburban Kettering have charged a man they said was suspected from the beginning in the strangling death Monday of 12-year-old Regina Ann Duchowski.

Jimmy Wayne Howard of Kettering pleaded not guilty Wednesday night to a charge of abduction resulting in death and was taken to Montgomery County Jail here where he is held without bond.

Howard appeared before Kettering Municipal Court Judge Jack H. Berger. He is scheduled to return to Berger's courtroom Monday for a preliminary hearing. In making his plea Howard reserved the right to enter a plea of guilty by reason of insanity.

Kettering police Chief John R. Shryock said Howard, who is married and the father of one, had become a suspect in the Kettering girl's death because of "a lot of data." He would not elaborate except to say, "we were looking for him."

The girl's body was found Tuesday in a wooded tract in Greene County two miles from her home by a couple out horseback riding, A. Gregory Crum, 25, Kettering, and Kyle Knight, 18, Beaver Creek.

She was found near the bridge trail, clad only in a pair of panties and slacks pulled down around her ankles.

Greene County Coroner Justin G. Krause said Regina died between 5 p. m. and 9 p. m. Monday, shortly after witnesses said they saw her get into a tan auto in Kettering.

Chief Shryock said Howard was arrested Wednesday evening in a residential area of Kettering after being spotted by policemen. Shryock said the car Howard was driving was similar to that described by the witnesses.

Krause said the results of an autopsy conducted Wednesday in Cincinnati showed that the girl died of strangulation. He said tests still had to be completed to determine whether she had been molested sexually, but there was no apparent indications that she had been.

He said the girl also received external marks on her body, apparently as a result of being dragged through brush.

Regina, "Gina" to classmates at Ascension Parochial Elementary School in Kettering, apparently was slain, then taken to the lonely bridge path, officers said, where she was found with a struggle there.

The packaged meals are equivalent in food value to the meal. A water gun, also shown, is used to reconstitute the food, which is squeezed out of the little packages.

"SILENT NIGHT" CHAPEL—Austria is in a month-long celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Christmas carol "Silent Night," and this is the chapel, built in 1937, on the site of the original St. Nicholas Church where Josef Mohr wrote the lyrics and Franz Gruber wrote the music, for guitar. They composed it a few hours before midnight mass in 1818, and as ill luck would have it, the organ broke down.

'Poison Widow Of Hardscrabble' May Die In Prison

By FRITZ NOTHACKER
Marion Star Writer

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Forty-three years is a long time to spend in prison.

A convicted murderess once known as the "poison widow of Hardscrabble" for one of the state's most publicized crimes of the 1920s can tell you how long.

Mrs. Martha Wise has grown old in the Ohio Reformatory for Women for a crime she committed 43 years ago. She was 43 then. Now she is 86.

Mrs. Wise went to prison in 1925 for the arsenic murder of her aunt and has been there, except for 24 hours, ever since—half her life.

The once notorious murderess is described today by Reformatory Supt. Martha Wheeler as a "sweet old lady." She is one of the most well-liked inmates at Marysville.

But Mrs. Wise, Marysville's oldest inmate, apparently still clings quietly to a fading hope she will not die of old age in prison.

Age has taken its toll of the young widow convicted in 1924 of the poison murder of the aunt who objected to her marrying an older man.

Two other members of the family also died of arsenic poisoning. Mrs. Wise was called the "poison widow of Hardscrabble" after the small town in Medina County in which she lived.

Mrs. Wise's husband died in 1922, leaving her with four small children.

Now because of her age and health, she is one of seven permanent patients in the reformatory hospital. For years she worked in the poultry house, taking care of chickens.

Mrs. Wise is "a little tottery and shaky" but most every Sunday, the superintendent says, she gets up and walks to church, although someone has to assist her.

"She is a very sweet person who accepts her days as they come to her," Miss Wheeler said. "She's a very lovable lady."

Asked if she thought Mrs. Wise still had hope of freedom before she dies, Miss Wheeler said "Yes" but added: "I don't think she dwells on it. And she doesn't push it. In fact, she doesn't talk about it."

There was a time six years ago when Mrs. Wise had freedom only to see it snatched away from her by a somewhat cruel turn of events.

In 1962 the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission granted her a parole. The year previously then Gov. Michael V. DiSalle had reduced her conviction to second-degree murder, making the parole possible.

Twenty-four hours after she was released, she returned to prison because she had no place to go. She had planned to stay at a boarding home in Blanchester but the woman who owned it refused to accept her. A probation officer then told Mrs. Wise there was an illness in the family which had first agreed to take her in, but later declined when they learned of her past.

"All she wants," the probation officer said, "is to die free and in peace."

Mrs. Wise replied that she was sorry, and said "maybe things will work out for the best." Her calm acceptance of

Liquor Law Plans Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Persons 18 through 21 years of age would be issued special identification cards for beer purchases under one of the proposals being considered by a state legislature study committee.

Rep. Robert A. Manning R-94 Akron, committee chairman, named a three-man subcommittee Wednesday to draft suggestions for the forthcoming legislature. Manning said they will consider stricter enforcement of teen-age drinking bans and legislation that would allow liquor sales on Sunday.

The idea of identification cards is similar to a system used in Pennsylvania, Ohio law allows persons 18 through 20 to buy 3.2 beer only.

Manning is on the subcommittee with Rep. James P. Celebrezze D-50 Cleveland and Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion.

Clermont County Man Convicted

CHICAGO (AP)—William M. Breen, 46, of Felicity, Clermont County, Ohio, was indicted by a federal grand jury Thursday on charges of evading $26,761 in income taxes.

The indictment accuses Breen of reporting income substantially less than he earned in 1963 and 1964. Formerly of Park Forest, Ill., Breen is president and chief stockholder in the Diamond "B" Stable.

Christians, Live Expectantly!

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR ENRICHING OUR LIVES

Scripture—II Peter.

By R. H. RAMSEY

TODAY'S lesson encompasses all three chapters of the Second Epistle of Peter. Though the apostle identifies himself similarly at the beginning of both Epistles bearing his name, there have been, over the centuries, long and heated discussion both for and against Petrine authorship, and it is difficult to prove or disprove.

The style of writing is different than that of I Peter, leading to the supposition that if Peter was the author, he may have had a different secretary for the Second Epistle. It contains material markedly similar to that of the Epistle of Jude, indicating that the authors used a common source or that they borrowed from each other.

Assigning a place and date of writing is dependent upon the attribution of authorship. Assuming the author was indeed Peter, the date would be about A.D. 68 and the place of writing, Rome.

Before the Apostle begins his exhortations, instructions and warnings, he reminds his readers that Christians should realize that it is through the power

The remaining verses of Chapter 1 emphasize the importance of the Christian life and the fact that we belong to Christ. With his own eyes Peter had seen the Lord in His glory on the Mount of Transfiguration, and he had heard the voice of God the Father declare Him His Son. Because of this he equated the testimony of the apostles on a par with that of the Old Testament prophets, declaring that they, too, spoke only when moved by the Holy Spirit — an argument establishing the divine inspiration of the entire Bible.

Chapter 2 contains warnings against false prophets and teachings and a defense of orthodox beliefs, including a belief in the "Second Coming." Peter predicts that many will follow these "damnable heresies," but, as in the past—the Flood, Sodom and Gomorrah, etc. — God will deliver those who belong to Him and bring punishment upon the wicked.

In Chapter 3 Peter recalls Old Testament prophecies and teachings given the apostles by our Lord regarding the day of judgment. He warns of mockers and scoffers who deny the truth

GOLDEN TEXT

"Nevertheless we, according to His promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of Him in peace, without spot, and blameless."—II Peter 3:13-14.

given by God that we are able to live righteous, self-controlled lives.

Thus we become partakers of the divine nature. Through faith we become the objects of divine favor, the recipients of divine bounty, partakers of the divine life.

The sincere Christian does what he can to thrust evil out of his life and replace it with good, but it takes the loving power of God to effectively and completely save us from the power of sin.

In this letter Peter carefully lists the virtues of a sincere Christian, though as Christians his readers should know them already and not need his reminder.

Faith—the spiritual power enabling us to surrender ourselves to God and live righteously—is first. Then should be added virtue, knowledge, self-control, patience, godliness, brotherly kindness and love. Because God has bestowed such gifts on men, and because the use of these gifts leads to the full knowledge of Christ, their diligent use prepares us for eternal fellowship with God.

OSU, OU Teams Embark For Bowls

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State and Ohio University—the Buckeye State's two foot-ball powers—headed for sunny climates today and engagements in post-season bowl games.

The No. 1 ranked Buckeyes departed from Port Columbus at 8:30 a.m. on their way to Los Angeles for a Jan. 1 date with Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

The Bobcats, ranked 15th nationally, left a half hour later for Orlando, Fla. where they will meet Richmond in the Tangerine Bowl the night of Dec. 27.

Coach Woody Hayes headed a contingent of 50 players while Ohio Coach Bill Hess enplaned with 44 gridders.

It was the closest thing to a confrontation between the two clubs, which do not face each other on the gridiron.

Hayes and Hess are longtime friends who will duplicate their 1968 trip to Vietnam on Jan. 2. On paper, it would appear Ohio University has the easier task of coming home triumphant. The Bobcats tangle with Richmond, the Southern Conference king, while the Bucks must whip second-ranked Southern Cal to lock up the national championship.

Richmond, despite a slow start, finished strong with a 7-3 record but the Spiders will be without star quarterback Buster O'Brien. He is a graduate student and the NCAA forbids graduate students from participating in post-season games.

O'Brien's value to the Richmond offense is vital. He completed 149 of 255 passes for 1,961 yards and 21 touchdowns. Reserve quarterback Charley Richards will get the call.

Hess' chargers rolled to a perfect 10-0 campaign with a multitiered offense paced by quarterback Cleve Bryant, full-back Bob Houmard, tailback Dick Conley and split end Todd Snyder.

Ohio also boasts such solid linemen as tackles Ken Carmon and Frank Peters, linebacker Steve Robinson and defensive back Craig Rader.

Hess was at the helm in Ohio's only other bowl appearance in 1962 when the Bobcats lost 15-14 to West Texas State in the Sun Bowl.

Riding a 13-game winning streak, the longest in the nation, Hayes is likely to have 13 sophomores in his starting lineup against the veteran Trojans.

Super soph quarterback Rex Kern, who suffered a dislocated shoulder Monday, is the only doubtful starter. But if he can't open, and he is expected to, then another touted soph, Ron Maciejowski, will get the call.

Other first year men expected to start are ends Jan White and Bruce Jankowski; guards Brian Donovan and Phil Strickland; halfbacks Larry Zelina and either John Brockington or Leo Hayden at tailback.

Sophs on defense include middle guard Jim Stillwagon; line-backer Doug Adams; corner-back Jack Taum; end Mark Debeve, halfback Tim Anderson and safety Mike Sensibaugh.

Among the veteran stars are junior fullback Jim Otis, who set a single season school scoring record of 96 points; offensive tackles Dave Foiey and Rufus Mayes, both All-American elections; defensive end Dave Whitfield; defensive tackles Paul Schmidlin and Bill Urbanik; middle guard Vic Stottlemeyer and defensive halfback Ted Provost.

Ohio State rules a six-point favorite over the Trojans, who are paced by All-American O. J. Simpson and quarterback Steve Sogge.

CHS Mat Team Ready For Central

Circleville High School wrestling coach Brent Bell has named his squad for tomorrow's triangular match hosted by Columbus Central. The event will start at 4 p.m.

Pleasant View will be the third school in the meet.

Central has an exceptionally fine mat team this year, according to reports that Bell has received. In a recent quadrangular meet, the Pirates scored over 100 points.

Pleasant View, although seven of the 11 weight divisions are filled with newcomers, is expected to have a good team, Bell notes.

FOR Circleville, the starters are:

Mike Fuller, 103 pounds; Randy Martin, 112 pounds; Mike Smith, 120 pounds; Doyle Kiser, 127 pounds; Jack Robinson, 133 pounds; Dezi Gentzel, 138 pounds;

Craig Dresbach, 145 pounds; Jeff Wise, 154 pounds; Mark Ralston, 165 pounds; Steve Linzo, 174 pounds; Jack Boyer, heavyweight.

Seven of the grapplers are seniors. Mike Fuller and Doyle Kiser are sophomores and Dezi Gentzel and Craig Dresbach are juniors.

In preparing for this week's match, the Tigers wrestled Chillicothe and won in a scrimmage Tuesday. Today they will scrimmage Upper Arlington.

Bulls Edge Out Milwaukee In Only NBA Game On Card

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Chicago's Clem Haskins came up with a closing seconds rescue act that dropped the expansion Milwaukee Bucks deeper into the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division cellar. And Haskins' heroics also enabled the Bulls to climb into a fourth-place tie with idle San Francisco in the West.

Haskins drilled in a 30-foot jump shot and scored two free throws in the last eight seconds Thursday night to climax a rally that gave the Bulls a 113-111 victory over Milwaukee.

The loss was the 25th this season (against only eight victories) for the Bucks—the most defeats by a team this season in the NBA.

It was the only game scheduled in the league.

Over in the American Basketball Association, Denver rolled past Kentucky 116-95, New York stopped Miami 119-110 and New Orleans defeated Dallas 113-108.

Chicago trailed by as many as 16 points in the second quarter before capitalizing on cold Milwaukee shooting to tie it 77-77 late in the third quarter.

It was 107-107 with a minute left when Haskins went to work. He traded baskets with Jon McGlocklin before hitting his long jumper with eight seconds to go, then clinched it with the two free throws four seconds later.

The Bucks' Len Chappel took scoring honors with 33 points, while Haskins and Bob Boozer each had 25 for the Bulls, who moved into a fourth-place tie with San Francisco in the Western Division.

Ron Perry did a little haunting in firing New York to its come-from-behind triumph over Miami.

Perry, traded by Miami to the Nets for Maurice McHartley earlier this week, riddled his old mates with 24 points, including some vital ones as New York wiped out a two-point deficit at the start of the final quarter. McHartley, meanwhile, managed only four points for the Floridians.

Denver picked up its fourth straight victory with ease, although Kentucky's Louie Dampier canned seven three-point shots in scoring 34 points.

The Rockets, paced by Larry Jones' 22 points, grabbed a 28-14 first quarter lead, boosted it to 61-47 by halftime and coasted the rest of the way.

Jimmy Jones scored nine of his 32 points in a final quarter surge that gave New Orleans its victory over Dallas, snapping the Chaparrals four-game winning streak.

Ron Boone led the losers with 28 points.

Baseball Owners Meet To Choose Commissioner

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's top brass, pledged to conjure a new image for the major leagues, meets tonight to seek a successor to dismissed Commissioner William D. Eckert.

Whether club owners of the National and American Leagues will settle on an Eckert replacement immediately is not known.

This meeting, exactly 14 days after Eckert apparently was "fired" by club owners is expected to concentrate on a half-dozen baseball-wise candidates for the reported $100,000-a-year job.

Topping the list is Mike Burke, president of the New York Yankees, who has strong Eastern support, but may run into an American-National split on selection of the game's fifth czar.

Other candidates reportedly are Milwaukee's Judge Bob

Cannon, former counsel for big league players; Vice President Chub Feeney of the San Francisco Giants; President Joe Cronin of the American League; and General Managers Lee MacPhail of the Yankees and Bing Devine of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Owner Charles O. Finley of the Oakland A's predicted "we'll run into a stalemate and will meet again before we select a commissioner."

Burke, 50, who bloomed into a strong baseball personality when the Columbia Broadcasting Company bought the Yankees four years ago, said he doubted the session here would bring a vote on a new commissioner.

John Rinka Tops College Scoring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John Rinka of Kenyon College is a little guy—at least by basketball standards—but he hasn't let his 5-foot-9 stature prevent him from being small college basketball's top scorer.

Rinka, a junior from Milwaukee, is averaging 36.8 points per game, according to statistics released today by the National Collegiate Sports Service, to rank well ahead of runner-up Bob Dandridge of Norfolk State, with a 33.8 mark.

Rinka had 184 points in his first five games.

Ashland College of Ohio, as usual, leads in team defense, with an average yield of 34.3 points a game.

University of Southern California and Jackson State College of Mississippi each had 11 seniors selected in the 1968 pro football draft.

Ohio University Loses 89-80 To Northwestern

CCI Inmates Think Cook Got Cheated

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — "It's a crime" and "what a lousy deal" are a couple of comments being heard at the Chillicothe Correctional Institute these days.
But the gripes have nothing to do with prison conditions. The inmates are upset over the selection of Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame as quarterback on the 1968 All-American football team.
They think Greg Cook, star signal caller for the University of Cincinnati Bearcats, should have been chosen.
They have good reason to favor Cook, a product of Chillicothe High School. His father is B. C. Cook, recreational director at the institution, and Greg has spent many hours talking with inmates about football and other topics.
When the institution's newspaper asked inmates if they thought players were selected for the All-American team on the basis of merit, it received a barrage of negative replies.
One inmate noted that Hanratty played only half the season while Cook was rewriting the NCAA record books.

Collier Sets 2 Starters Against Dallas

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blanton Collier will start Charley Harraway at running back and Jack Gregory at defensive end against the Dallas Cowboys Saturday.

The Cleveland Browns' coach made the decision Thursday after a practice session for the National Football League Eastern Conference playoff.

Collier added, however, that Ernie Green and Bill Glass "will see a lot of action."

Green, the regular running partner with Leroy Kelly, and Glass, a veteran defensive end, both were injured during the regular season.

Both have played on a limited basis since.

Gregory, a second year man, has stepped into the defensive end spot. Harraway, in his third year, has carried 91 times for 334 yards this season and caught 12 passes for 162 yards.

Collier also said Don Cockroft will get first crack at punting. Cockroft, who also kicks field goals, had trouble with his punting against St. Louis.

"We'll just see what happens and how Don does," Collier said. "Gary Collins was kicking very well before the game in St. Louis. We'll make any changes that seem necessary."

Collins is set to open at flanker after a touch of action against St. Louis. It will be the first start for the veteran receiver since he suffered a shoulder separation in October against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Quarterback Bill Nelsen spent extra time throwing to Collins Thursday. The two have been in the same offensive lineup for only about one quarter.

The Browns will hold a brief drill today with emphasis on the specialty units. The Cowboys arrive about noon and also plan a light workout.

3 Saints Assistants Quit Posts

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Three of New Orleans Saints' Coach Tom Fears' assistants—including his two top lieutenants—have resigned unexpectedly.

Jack Faulkner, the team's chief defensive coach, announced the resignations Thursday.

Joining Faulkner were Bob Dickson, the chief offensive coach, and Bob Shaw, coach of the receivers. A fourth assistant, Walt Yowarsky, previously told Fears and Schwenk that he would quit at the end of the season.

It means Fears is losing four of his seven assistants from a staff which won four games this season, equalling the best second-year performance for any NFL expansion team.

Faulkner sounded extremely distressed when he announced the decision in a telephone call to The Associated Press. He said he didn't want to elaborate but might have something more to say later.

Fears would not talk to newsmen nor return any telephone calls made to his home or office.

Dave DeBusschere Traded To Knicks

DETROIT (AP) — The Pistons traded an institution Thursday in a National Basketball Association move designed to get the Detroit club back on the winning track.

The Pistons announced 6-foot-6 Dave DeBusschere, a college star at the University of Detroit and a Piston since 1962, was traded to the New York Knicks for Howard Komives and the big man the Pistons have needed, 6-foot-11 Walt Bellamy.

The players will face each other tonight when the Knicks and Pistons tangle in Detroit.

spokesman said, but it did not become public until late Thursday night.

The mishap recalled the eye injury Alcindor suffered last season, leading to his sub-par game against Houston in the Astrodome Jan. 20, 1968, when UCLA's 47-game winning streak was broken 71-69.

"His foot is better now than it was earlier in the week," said Johnny Wooden, UCLA coach. "But we've told him to let us know if it begins hurting again."

Alcindor has been excused from practice early to have his foot treated and Wooden disclosed he planned to keep his star out of action until the Pacific-8 Conference games next month unless the injury healed.

That would mean Alcindor would miss not only tonight's Minnesota game, but also the West Virginia game Saturday and the Holiday Festival games in New York next week.

Disclosure of Alcindor's pulled tendon overshadowed Thursday night's action on the courts in which 14th-ranked New Mexico State, the only team in the Associated Press Top 20 to play, made it seven in a row by whipping Evansville 98-64 at Las Cruces, N.M.

Calvin Murphy, the nation's second leading scorer, ran his season total to 231 points in six games with 31 points for Niagara as the Purple Eagles rallied to beat Bowling Green at Cleveland 100-92.

Miami Honors Coach-Graduates In Hall Of Fame

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Miami University here, sometimes called "The Cradle of Coaches" in the football world, honored several of them today in naming eight charter members of the Miami University Hall of Fame.

The charter members, all Miami graduates, include Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown and New York Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank from the American Football League, and college coaches Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame, John Pont of Indiana University and Col. Earl "Red" Blaik, former Army and Dartmouth coach.

The other charter Hall of Fame members are baseball manager Walter Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, former Miami athletic director George Rider, and Jay Coleville, who has been athletic trainer at Miami for 43 years.

A special committee was established to select the charter members.

DeJordy Shuts Out Detroit In NHL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Suddenly, the hottest goaltender in the National Hockey League is Chicago's Denis DeJordy, who just five weeks ago shuffled off to the Central League with his 3.70 goals against average and the boos of Black Hawk fans ringing in his ears.

DeJordy, recalled this week after Chicago had allowed 27 goals in five games, shut out Detroit 2-0 Thursday night for the Hawks' third straight victories. He has allowed just one goal in the two games since returning to the NHL.

In other NHL action Thursday, Boston rallied for a 6-4 victory over Los Angeles and Philadelphia wiped out a three-goal deficit to tie Minnesota 5-5.

On the road, Drake defeated Iowa State 81-71, Boston College beat Fairfield 81-69, Southern California edged Oklahoma 48-46 and Oklahoma State nipped Trinity, Tex., 65-63.

Grid Picker Sees Cleveland Loss

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If everything goes according to form the Dallas Cowboys will be playing the Baltimore Colts for the National Football League title Dec. 29 and the Kansas City Chiefs will be playing the New York Jets for the American Football League crown.

Form has a way of flip-flopping in these playoff games and it could very well do a somersault Saturday at Cleveland or Sunday at Baltimore or Oakland.

The NFL weekend program calls for Dallas (12-2) at Cleveland (10-4) for the Eastern Conference championship Saturday and Minnesota (8-6) at Baltimore (13-1) Sunday for the Western Conference title. In the AFL it will be Kansas City (12-2) at Oakland (12-2), Sunday in a playoff for the Western Division title and the right to play the Jets in New York the following Sunday.

After last week's 11-1 record anybody with the smarts would call it quits. But here's a last whirl at the picking.

NFL

Dallas 24, Cleveland 20 (Saturday)—The Cowboys beat the Browns in September 28-7 when Frank Ryan was pitching for Cleveland and Dan Reeves still was healthy and running for Dallas. When they met last year for the Eastern title in Dallas, the Cowboys really poured it on, 52-14 when Bob Hayes running wild on punt return.

Both teams have explosive attacks but Dallas has the sounder defense, giving up only two touchdowns on the ground all year. If Jethro Pugh is sub par from last Sunday's knee injury in New York, watch the Browns send Leroy Kelly into Dallas' left side.

Both were dull last week, the Cowboys in a 28-10 win over New York, the Browns in a 27-16 defeat by St. Louis.

Baltimore 20, Minnesota 16 (Sunday)—Colts held off the flu-stricken Vikings 21-9 on Nov. 24 after opening up 21-3 halftime lead.

The Vikes really took out after Earl Morrall in the second half, intercepting two and forcing a fumble but Baltimore dug in and stopped Bill Brown twice on the one-yard line in a tense goal line stand.

Minnesota offense can't compare with Colts, especially in air, where erratic Joe Kapp will oppose Morrall.

Baltimore probably will try for the bomb early because injury to Terry Cole and doubtful condition of Jerry Hill hurts their ground game. Return of Dave Osborn in last two games after knee surgery gives Vikings big plus.

This can be a real war, perhaps the best game of the season.

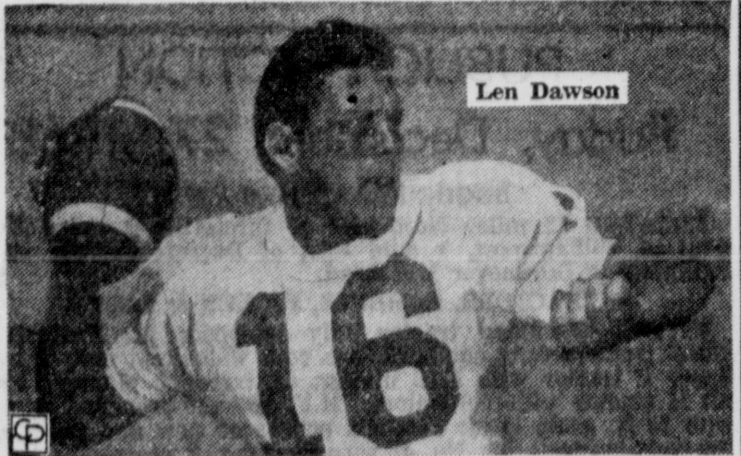

AFL

Kansas City 24, Oakland 21 (Sunday)—The past performance book is confusing. The Chiefs went to the old tight-T and whipped the Raiders 24-10 on Oct. 20 and two weeks later were bombed by Daryle Lamonia 38-21. In a pre-season game Kansas City won 31-21.

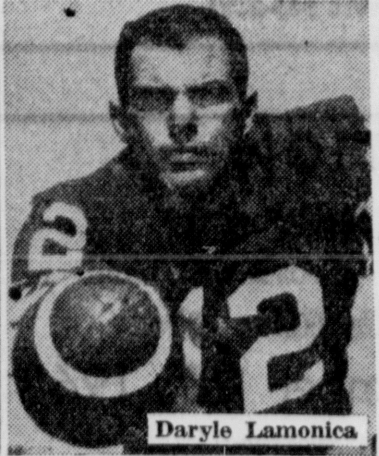

Hank Stram's club closed strong and Oakland has won last eight.

Against common foes in last two weeks, Chiefs bombed San Diego, 40-3, Raiders squeaked home 34-27. Chiefs clubbed Denver 30-7, Raiders rallied for 33-27 edge.

Oakland has better running but Lamonia passed them Silly Nov. 3. No love lost on either side in this one.

Bill Beall Sets Recruiting War

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Bill Beall, with a five-year contract as the Baylor University head football coach in hand, set about to plot his own personal school-boy recruiting war today.

Beall, an assistant defensive backfield coach at Louisiana State for the past eight seasons, was named Thursday as head coach, ending a three-week long search for a replacement for John Bridgers.

In addition to getting a late start in recruiting high school prospects, Beall must gather a coaching staff and hope for unified backing from a divisive alumni that is clamoring for a winner.

Vance Home From Stalled Talks

PARIS (AP) — U.S. negotiator Cyrus R. Vance flies home Saturday for consultations with U.S. leaders amid dwindling prospects for an opening of the Vietnam peace conference before the end of this year.

Aides declined to say whether Vance would see either President Johnson or President-elect Nixon, but it was believed likely he would confer with both before returning to Paris about Dec. 27.

Vance, a Johnson appointee, has agreed to stay on a month beyond Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20 to help pass the negotiating baton to the man Nixon chooses to replace W. Averell Harriman as the chief U.S. negotiator.

U.S. efforts to start the peace parley envisioned under Johnson's Oct. 31 bomb-halt package have run into rough going ever since he announced it.

Vance and North Vietnam's Col. Ha Van Lau stuck to their past proposals for the shape of the conference table and other symbols reflecting the argument over status for the NLF. Until they reach agreement on procedures, the talks cannot begin.

But it was a warning by Vance against a Communist attack on Saigon that generated the most heat in conflicting versions of the secret session issued by the two sides afterward. A North Vietnamese communique said Vance said if Saigon is hit "it would be impossible to carry on serious talks and to continue the halt in bombing of North Vietnam."

A U.S. delegation official denied Vance had threatened a resumption of U.S. bombing of the North should Saigon be attacked. He said Vance told the Hanoi envoy of U.S. intelligence reports of three to four North Vietnamese divisions along the Cambodian border preparing for an assault on Saigon. Vance strongly reminded Lau of Johnson's bomb-halt provision that peace talks would be jeopardized by shell of South Vietnamese cities and abuse of the demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams, the official said.

3 Ashville Area People Injured In Rear-End Mishap

Three Ashville area residents were injured in a rear-end accident on Graham-Gochemour Road about 1:15 p.m. Thursday.

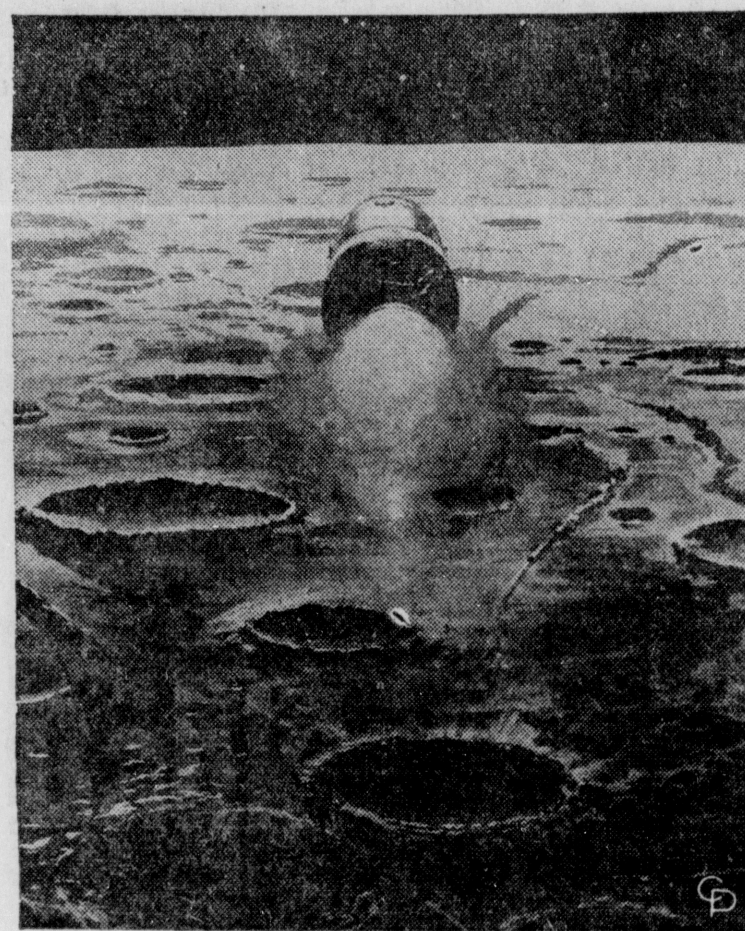

Referred to doctors for treatment were Donna Toole, 20, Ashville, driver of one of the cars, suffering neck and back injuries; and passengers Orville Ruh, 58, and his wife, Cora, 51, both suffering back injuries and minor lacerations.

Driver of the second car, Thelma Hudson, 48, Route 2, Ashville, was not injured in the mishap.

The Hudson car was following the Toole vehicle at the time of the accident, according to a report filed by Deputy Bill Dountz.

The Toole car went over a rise in the road, near Circleville-Commercial Point Road, and then stopped. The Hudson vehicle struck the Toole car in the rear as it crested the rise.

Thelma Hudson was cited by the sheriff's department for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.
